

The Boris Tchaikovsky Society

"I consider him to be a genius [...]. I do think that one day people will come to know that two great Russian composers bore the same name..." — Mstislav Rostropovich

Modern music which sounds like Music

The composer-innovator who enriched the tradition of Russian music

Boris Tchaikovsky (1925-1996) was an outstanding Russian composer of the second half of the 20th century, whose importance is becoming more and more clear in the last few years. Easily using any super-advanced tools of composing, the composer primarily strived for ultimate simplicity and expression of the key components of musical speech. The gift of deep philosophical and poetical understanding of the world enabled him to remain himself at every stage of his creative evolution. In fact, the composer did not leave behind a single failed opus. Due to the efforts of The Boris Tchaikovsky Society, almost all of the composer's major works have become available on the CD recordings, issued by different labels.

Among the most important CDs:

Chandos CHAN 10299H

Sebastopol Symphony
Music for Orchestra
The Wind of Siberia
 Moscow Radio SO
 Vladimir Fedosseyev

CD of the Year
 (Svenska Dagbladet, 2005)

"The music by Boris Tchaikovsky is so important, so gripping and profoundly beautiful that he should be played just as often as his more famous namesake."
 Thomas Roth, Svenska Dagbladet

Northern Flowers
 NF/PMA 9947

Violin Concerto
 Odense SO/Edward Serov
 Victor Pikaizen (violin)

"It certainly is unlike any other violin concerto I've ever heard. In such rare works we are taken to an inner world that we simply could never have imagined existed, and yet it is presented to us with such particularity and vividness that it seems undeniably real. The performance conveys absolute conviction"
 Mark Lehman, American Record Guide

Naxos 8.570195

First Symphony
 Vollograd Ph.O /Edward Serov
The Murmuring Forest
After the Ball
 Saratov Conservatory SO
 Kirill Ershov

CD of the Week
 (La Scena Musicale, 18/01/2007)

"I cannot name a stronger first symphony in recent memory, and the two radio suites are balletically gorgeous."
 Norman Lebrecht, La Scena Musicale

Albany Records
 TROY749

Piano Sonatas No.1-2
Piano peeces for children
 Olga Solovieva (piano)

"...CD from the excellent young Russian Olga Solovieva confirms that Tchaikovsky's piano music is tremendously rewarding, often highly individual."

Murray McLachlan, Piano magazine

Naxos
 8.557727

Piano Concerto, Clarinet Concerto
Signs of The Zodiac

Russian Academy of Music Ch.Orch.
 Timur Mylnbaev
 Olga Solovieva (piano)
 Anton Prischepa (clarinet)
 Yana Ivanilova (soprano)

"Performances are excellent from all concerned... At Naxos's price, every music-lover should give this CD a try!" — Phillip Scott, Fanfare

Cello Sonata / Lyrics of Pushkin
Partita for Cello & Chamber Ensemble
 Mstislav Rostropovich (cello)
 Galina Vishnevskaya (soprano)
 Boris Tchaikovsky (piano, harpsichord)

"Lyrics of Pushkin is one of the finest works by Tchaikovsky that I have heard so far. Substantial Cello Sonata is a work from the composer's early maturity, but already displays considerable formal and instrumental mastery."
 Hubert Culot, Music Web

The Boris Tchaikovsky Society, a public non-profit organization, was founded in Moscow in late 2002 and registered in 2003. Among the Society's goals are the study of Tchaikovsky's legacy, the dissemination of his music, and the support of events connected with his music (concerts, recordings, scores).

The honorary members of the Society include Rudolf Barshai, Victor Pikaizen, Vladimir Fedosseyev, Edward Serov, and Karen Khachatryan. The activities of the Society also was supported by
